MESSAGES

Of Congratulation for the Ohio National Guards.

Special to the Leader.

Columbus, O., Sept. 25.—Major General Charles Dick of the Ohio National Guard is in receipt of two congratulatory telegrams:

One was from President Roosevelt and the other from Governor Nash. Both were on the subject of the O. N. G. part in the ceremonies attendant upon the burial of the late President McKinley.

The following is the correspondence:

"Office of Public Buildings and Grounds, Room 24 War Department. The Commanding General Ohio National Guard, Columbus, O.:

"General—I have been directed by the President to express to you his appreciation of the soldierly qualities displayed by the Ohio National Guard in the performance of the necessary and important police duty during the funeral ceremonies at Canton, O., of the late lamented President McKinley.

"Very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
(Signed) "THEO. A. BINGHAM, Colonel, U. S. Army."

"State of Ohio, Executive Department.

"Office of the Governor, Columbus, O., Sept. 21, 1901.

"Major General Charles Dick, Commanding O. N. G.:

"Sir—I am proud of the National Guard of Ohio. On the 15th day of September it was ordered to mobilize at Canton, O., at 12 o'clock, noon, of the 18th, for the purpose of attending the funeral of the late President McKinley, and to perform such services as might be required by the assembling of vast crowds of people. To this call the officers and men responded with such promptness that upon the afternoon of the 18th fifty-four hundred officers and soldiers were assembled in Camp McKinley, with tents and provisions, so that all could be comfortably housed and amply fed. Among the duties which you had to perform were those of keeping the streets of Canton free from crowds and confusion, so that the funeral ceremonies could be conducted in an orderly manner; of protecting the residence of the late President, in which his body lay, and of saving the President of the United States from annoyance and harm. All these duties were performed in a quiet, dignified and soldierly manner, commanding the respect and praise of all present.

"The National Guard of Ohio upon this occasion made it plain that it is a most efficient military body, and that its members are not only soldiers, but also good citizens, possessing the most patriotic qualities. They showed their appreciation of the fact that in assisting to lay the body of the dead President in the tomb they were performing a sacred duty, and this they did in a most loving manner. May the patriotism of William McKinley be an inspiration to these young men and soldiers and guide all their future conduct.

"I thank you and your command for the promptness with which it moved, for its patriotic conduct, and for its efficient service.

"With kind regards, I remain, Respectfully,
(Signed) "GEO. K. NASH, Governor and Commander-in-Chief."

Agnes Morris.

Agnes Morris, of Layman, died at her home Wednesday morning of typhoid fever. She was the widow of the late Wallace Morris and leaves two children well known in this city to mourn their loss, Mr. George Morris and Miss Lucy Morris. The funeral will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at Layman.

Of all the Great American Plays, the old historical drama of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" has the strongest hold on the people. It is, beyond question, one of the best plays ever written, hence the warm place it retains in the hearts of the people in every clime. The greatest production it has been given years will be seen at the Auditorium tomorrow night. Under the management of Leon W. Washburn. Watch for the big street parade.

No Corn Doctors for Army.

Surgeon General Sternberg, of the army, objects to the employment of corn doctors in that service, as has been recommended by Col. Philip Reade, lately on duty at St. Paul as inspector general. The army medical officers say, in the first place, that the men selected for military duty are not of the half lame and decrepit variety, and if anything happens to the feet of soldiers it is likely to be more serious than can be attended to by so-called pedic surgeons, or, as they are more commonly known, chiropodists.

It is true that soldiers suffer a great deal as a result of long marches, but the remedy for this is in following the rules laid down by the doctors for the care of the feet and in supplying the army with a shoe which is at once comfortable and serviceable.

Col. Reade's scheme for supplying the army with a new kind of doctor will not be adopted.

Battleship Not a Bird.

It is related that Julian Corbett, the naval expert and author of "Drake and the Tudor Navy" and "The Successors of Drake," wrote some time ago to the British admiralty office suggesting that a new first-class battleship in course of construction be christened the Drake. A formal acknowledgment of the receipt of the letter was followed by a dignified reply expressing the admiralty's regret at not being able to carry out Mr. Corbett's suggestion, and explaining that it would be contrary to all precedent to name a first-class battleship after a bird.

Victory at Last. For ten long years I was a sufferer with kidney dyspepsia and rheumatic disease. I treated with many Columbus doctors; took patent medicine.
